Subject: Free Breast and Cervical Cancer Screening Clinic

Saturday, October 21

Boise, ID -- Central District Health Department and St. Luke=S Regional Medical Center are teaming up to provide a free Breast and Cervical Cancer Screening Clinic on Saturday, October 21 at Central District Health Department, 707 N. Armstrong Place in Boise. To schedule an appointment, call 327-7400.

The risk for breast and cervical cancer increases as you get older, but is easier to cure when found early. A yearly mammogram and Pap test are an important part of keeping well.

AThis screening is unique in that it will provide both a mammogram and cervical cancer screening in one stope, states Nancy Rush, supervisor of the Office of Community Health Promotion and Education at Central District Health Department.

To qualify for the free screening, women must:

- be age 50 to 64

or

- meet income guidelines
- have no medical insurance coverage for breast cancer screening physical exam

- not have had a mammogram within the last year

- have no known breast problems
- be able to stand for a 10 minute procedure

Appointments are limited, so call today. To schedule an appointment, call Central District Health Department at 327-7400. It could save your life!
